Thunder, But No Rain for Homecoming; Dickason And Co. Open November 21

by Ken Hawman

Please notify TV, Cinerama, Cinemascope, 3-D and all other media of entertainment in the Greater Bridgeport Area that "Thunder" has been heard rumbling on our campus once again. Campus Thunder is, of course, of what we sing.

The 7th edition of UB's musical extravaganza received its starting push last week when a large group of hopefuls attended the initial tryouts. Al Dickason, Director of the Office of Campus Productions, is well pleased with the over-enthusiastic response to the call for campus thespians.

Audiences and critics alike have been high in their praise of former "Thunder" productions, but the word backstage is that, confidentially, this season's offering will be the biggest and best of all. Perhaps, as the late beloved Al Jolson used to say, "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

Timed for Homecoming Week, with its gala weekend festivities, a "Thunder Punch Party" is slated for Saturday, November 21. The annual cast party, to be held after the show, is also being planned.

With a cast of forty, singing and dancing their way through fourteen scenes, the show will present twenty-five (Yes - 25) new song hits. Charles Rasmussen, Business Manager, has announced that tickets will go on sale during the first week of Nov. As in the past, UB students will have first choice at the golden ducats before they go on sale in Bridgeport (and the rest of the world).

Faculty Trio Roam To Other Pastures

Dr. Harry Becker, former Dean of the College of Education and Dean of Administration at the University of Bridgeport, is now the Superintendent of Schools in Norwalk.

Mr. John C. Worley, former director of the band and orchestra and a professor in the Music Department, is now teaching in Ohio. Before coming to UB, Mr. Worley taught at Ohio State University and was director of music in the New Cannon public schools.

Dr. Gilbert Demarr, former psychology teacher at the University of Bridgeport, is now Superintendent of Schools in Stockbridge, Mass.

National Teacher Tests To Be Held In February

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 3 — The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 13, 1954.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression and Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two nine Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

DuBreil to Head Yearbook Wistarian on Campus May 10

May 10 is the date set for the official birth of our yearbook, the Wistarian. Approximately 1200 books will invade the campus; each consisting of 186 pages, jam packed with the year's activities.

According to Phil DuBreil, Editor, this year's book will contain more sports coverage. There will be "bigger n better" pictures and a great deal of art work.

Heading the editorial staff is Joan Beaumont, Managing Editor. Mary Ford will serve as Advertising editor and Billy Jarboe is acting as Photography Editor. Sports coverage will be handled by Co-Sports Editors Joe Colum-

Over 7,000 Invitations Mailed For Initial UB Open House

by Myra Seide

The University of Bridgeport's first open house, directed at Mr. and Mrs. Connecticut and sponsored by the Board of Associates, will be held Sunday, Oct. 11 from 2 to 4 P. M. The purpose of the open house is to give visitors first hand knowledge of the work done by a community University. Over 7,000 invitations have been sent out, but all persons are welcome.

Applications Now Available For Two Television Courses

The new TV courses now being offered at the University of Bridgeport in "Personal Adjustment in Family Living" and "Living with Literature" are ready to receive applications for admittance. The applications are now being accepted at the Television Extension Center of the University.

Nationwide Survey Divulges Norms In Collegiate Papers

STORRS, CONN. — The typical college daily is published 151 times a year, averages 4 pages per issue and prints 755,000 copies during the academic year.

These were a few of the facts uncovered last Spring in a nationwide survey conducted by the Connecticut Campus, undergraduate newspaper at the University of Connecticut.

Questionnaires were sent to editors of all daily college papers, all state universities and several representative private institutions. The results provided editors of The Campus with an accurate and reliable cross section of the American Collegiate press today.

Some of the questions asked were: Do you have a compulsory student publication fee or tax? Do you pay your editors salaries? Are you allowed to carry beer and cigarette ads? Who determines your editorial and financial policy? Do you have any form of censorship?

The answers to these and more than 50 other questions, indicated that there are almost as many different ways of running college papers as there are colleges and universities.

Here are some of the highlights of the survey.

75 percent of the colleges have "No Drinking" regulations; but 10 percent are allowed to carry beer and liquor advertising. All (continued on page 4)

Approximately thirty student guides, members of the Student Council and Alpha Phi Omega, will be on hand at Cortright Hall to conduct the visitors on their tour of the University buildings. In addition, members of the Board of Associates, as well as various members of the faculty and staff, will be stationed at each building to explain the prospective operations.

Visitors will start their tour at Cortright Hall, Park Place and Park Avenue, where, in addition to members of the Board of Associates, they will be met by President James H. Halsey and Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice-president. The student guides will answer any questions that may arise concerning the operation of the various departments housed within the building.

From there the tour will proceed to Fones Hall, home of the Fones School of Dental Hygiene, Weylister Secretarial School and the University library. Various displays will be set up in the library so that the visitors may see a pictorial representation of the University.

After leaving Fones Hall, the group will proceed to Wistaria Hall to view a typical residence hall and then on to Marina Hall, the former home of P. T. Barnum, now utilized as the dining area and a male dormitory.

Next stop will be Bishop Hall, where the guests will view examples of study and classrooms, as well as a lounge.

Council Votes Yes To Change Rules

Student Council, in their meeting this past Tuesday, passed a motion to the effect that Arnold College Physical Education Division of the University of Bridgeport will have two voting members on Council; these members to be determined by the Arnold College.

This will be a temporary arrangement until such time as regularly designed for a regular Council election. This will require a referendum from the entire student body and an amendment of the constitution.

The motion was passed by a vote of 11-3.

Dean Read is Heard By New London Civic Group

Dr. Eaton V. W. Read, Dean of the College of Business Administration of the University of Bridgeport, was the guest speaker September 29, at 7:00 P. M. at a meeting of community leaders in New London. The leaders are hoping to form a health and welfare group in that city.

Dr. Read, who is also vice chairman of the Community Council of Eastern Fairfield County, spoke on the "Organization and Functions of a Community Council."

First Convocation Held UB Religion: Dr. Pickett

The University of Bridgeport's first convocation of the 1953-54 academic year was held Tuesday at 11:00 A. M. in the Carlson Lecture Hall of the Engineering-Technology building on Park Place.

The convocation, entitled "Religion at the University of Bridgeport," was led by Dr. Ralph H. Pickett, assistant professor of History at the University. Dr. Pickett is also chairman of the committee on religion.

batta and Mickey Vail. Girls' Sports Editor is Dolores Visconti. The Art Staff will be headed by Dick Weckler and Myra Seide is Secretarial Editor.

It has been estimated that over 40 students have signed up to work on the yearbook. There are still positions open and all persons interested should contact the Wistarian Office, 3rd floor, Alumni Hall, as soon as possible.

$$$ DATELINE — URGENT $$$

You are gazing at the pages of the second edition of this year's SCRIBE. It is the sincere hope of the entire staff that you have enjoyed your paper and they await your approval or disapproval. We humbly accept the praise of those who offer it and profit from the suggestions and remarks from our most severe critics.

For the second straight week we present a six page SCRIBE. Last year we had merely four pages. We have used as many photos and cartoons as the space and budget will allow. We would like to continue this trend toward a bigger and better SCRIBE. . . . BUT. . . .

Unless something unexpected takes place we will be forced to regress back to four pages and employ little photographic work. The staff is ambitious and willing. . . . but our hands are tied. Naturally, it's the old story of where there's a will, there's a way — IF you have enough money. We haven't.

This we deeply regret. Regret more, perhaps, than our readers who justifiably believe that a University which has grown as large as ours, deserves an adequate journalistic voice.

We are not the only organization affected. The editor of the yearbook has informed us that he, too, will be unable to print as large and worthy a volume as obviously is deemed necessary for an expanding university.

The remedy of this uncomfortable situation lies entirely in the laps of the students themselves. . . . and that brings up and old soft spot. . . . a rise of Student Activities Fees. . . . We receive our yearly budget from Student Council, as does each organization on campus which depends on financial support for existence. . . . Student Council is not allocating sufficient funds and through absolutely no fault of their own. They are blameless, and like us, have their hands tied equally as tight. You can't pass it out if you haven't got it.

The present Activities Fee is $6.00. For several months last year Student Council, the voice of the students, was fighting for an increase of only $2.00 and attempting to impress upon each student that the extra fee they would pay would be the proverbial "drop in the bucket" when compared to the result and effectiveness such an increase could show. . . . A bigger and better SCRIBE and Wistarian. . . . Needed financial support for the smaller clubs and organizations. . . . Larger allotment for Social Activities, thus insuring more dances with bigger name bands. . . . and so on right down the list.

Consider this when and if you are asked to vote in a student referendum for a raise in activities fee.

This rise is needed. . . . URGENTLY. . . . and the SCRIBE, the Student Council and the Administration are powerless in this matter until YOU, the students prove conclusively that you too realize the need. . . .

Dear Editor

Boston, Mass.

Dear Gary —

My first day in the town of the bean and cod, and already I'm wishing that I were back in the comfortable confines of the University of Bridgeport campus. Somehow UB seems closer now that I've left than it was when I was there. . . . I'm almost getting sentimental.

I've managed to bring some of the atmosphere of UB to Boston with me. I've got a UB banner on my wall, and various and assorted souvenirs of fraternity dances and beach parties adorn my room.

Gary, I'd appreciate it very much if you would put me on the SCRIBE mailing list. I'd like to keep up with campus activities and happenings. . . . and keep an eye on your staff to see how they are doing.

Give my regards to the members of the staff and tell them I wish them the best of luck.

Sincerely,
Victor E. Munice

Korea

Dear Editor —

Greetings from a past member of the SCRIBE Staff.

Some two years ago I was a member of a crew that searched for stores and sweated deadlines, yet shared a goodly amount of laughs. I would very much like to be in those shoes again. But since we all are allotted only our share of college years, and no more, that cannot be so.

This morning I spotted in the MANILA BULLETIN some state-side college football results. I was mildly surprised in that the season had rolled around so quickly. Buried in a maze of statistics was the score, UB 13, Upsala 6. Very pleased, I am hoping that this first game victory will touch off a fine year for the Purple and White gridsters.

I would like to follow the team's grid fortunes through the SCRIBE. To hear of UB people and to read of UB antics would be a tremendous shot-in-the-arm to one who enjoyed thoroughly his stay at the University. Many thanks for your consideration of my request.

My best wishes to the staff members of this year's SCRIBE. Many successes to those people responsible for the preparation and realization of a fine college publication. Awaiting to hear from you, I remain

Your Friend
Tony Georgian

(Ed. Note — Glad to oblige, Tony and Vic, your SCRIBE's are on their way. Same holds true for any other former UB student. Just drop us a line and your name will promptly be placed on our mailing list. — GES).

UB Offers Legal Course For Bridgeport Lawyers

A special 15 week course in Legal Anatomy and Physiology, is offered at the University of Bridgeport.

The course, open only to practicing attorneys, is sponsored by the Bridgeport Bar Association in cooperation with the University and will be limited in enrollment to 35 persons.

Dr. Francis E. Dolan, assistant professor of anatomy, will be the instructor of this non-credit course. He was formerly a professor of anatomy at Bellevue, where during his 15 year tenure, he taught several courses in legal anatomy. He has also lectured extensively throughout the United States and Canada.

by Roger Saxon and Lou Csigay

Most of the sororities and fraternities are starting their pledging seasons shortly. The Interfraternity Council has made transfer students from Champlain and Arnold Colleges eligible for pledging. The only other students that may be pledged are those who have completed twelve semester hours at UB. This seems to be the wise move. . . . On your mark, get set, go!

The invasion was repulsed. The onslaught of Schiott Hall by ALPHA DELTA OMEGA was put down, as the girls reported, with no casualties. Big party planned for Saturday at Bob Germano's house. . . . O. K. Bob? ?

ALPHA GAMMA PHI is looking toward another successful "Sword and Shield" dance. . . . The boys are still recuperating from the last party they held. . . . Make ours broma.

The second rush "tea" of BETA GAMMA will be held this week. Last week's tea was a big hit. Pledging starts October 18.

Congratulations John Brennan, newly elected president of DELTA EPSILON BETA. Other officers are vice president, Ed Brown; treasurer, Gordon Robertson; secretaries, Joe Campolung and Ed Cebry.

KAPPA BETA RHO, who opened up the fraternity social season, is helping it along. With get togethers planned, Charlie Elovicky, says, "Keep it bubbling." KBR thanks those who supported their successful dance.

Alumni Sid Litwak's home in Chelsea, Mass., was the scene of PHI OMEGA CHI's reunion after the Brandeis game. Danny Lee-son was appointed chaplain. . . . Boys, are you sure? ?

At recent elections of SIGMA LAMDA CHI, Marv Gelfand was elected president and "Rocky" Racamato was made vice president. "Watch our smoke this year," says Rocky.

Applications are being accepted for SIGMA PHI ALPHA's annual athletic scholarship. . . . The fraternity is also planning a hayride the second week in October. Did you dig that crazy SPA band at the Hofstra game?

Lots of luck to THETA EPSILON's Mary Royak on her recent marriage, and to alumnus Ginny Tennant on her appointment to the University staff. Halloween dance, October 30, should be quite the thing.

THETA SIGMA's dance, the FOOTBALL, will take place Friday at Glorietta Manor. . . . Come and join the throng, bring a date along.

Happy headaches till next week.

Co-Ed Sees UB Grow in Interview; President Halsey Recalls Old Days

by Georgia Bishop

When the average college student has an appointment to interview the president of his institution for the first time, he is liable to suffer through several miserable moments of worry.

Will it go well? Will he cooperate with me? What will he be like? Here at UB, I find a student doesn't have that trouble, for he knows that there is no need to worry. He doesn't shake in his proverbial boots as he sits in the reception room of President James H. Halsey's Cortright Hall office. His genuine interest in the student body problems and their ideas, puts the student at ease, and enables the interview to go along smoothly without strained moments of silence.

James H. Halsey, president of the University of Bridgeport, has been associated with the college since 1938, when he was first engaged as assistant to the late President Cortright. He was given his present post in 1946.

President Halsey said the University has changed extensively since his arrival, when it was still the Junior College of Connecticut on Fairfield Avenue. Aside from the vast amount of construction, it has grown from a small junior college to its present status as a fully accredited university, containing four separate colleges.

Even in 1938, President Halsey had "confidence in the future of the institution." He was secure in the knowledge that "this institution had potentialities for community service." He was right; for UB is now the third largest college in the state.

One of the most memorable incidents in President Halsey's mental scrap-book of his years at UB, is the actual decision and approval by the State Legislature to permit the change in organization from a junior college to the present University of Bridgeport.

President Halsey is married to the former Julia Walke, his high school sweetheart. They have three sons: James Jr., 20, a senior here at UB; John Easton, 16, a student at Bassick; and George Rogers, 10, fifth grade at the Unkowna School.

Freshman Given Tea By Hygienists

The Sophomore class of the Fones School of Dental Hygiene, a part of the Junior College of Connecticut, gave a welcoming tea for the freshman class on October 4. The tea took place in Alumni Hall from 3:00 to 5:00 P. M.

Invited guests included alumni members and the faculty. The freshman class was officially welcomed by Jacqueline McCue, president of the sophomore class.

Get On The Bandwagon

Mr. Sauterwein has sent out an emergency call for band musicians. So far, the turnout has been so small that he is considering using instrumentalists from high school bands to help out at the football games.

Our new Department of Music Education is about to send out six prospective teachers, Barbara Burhorn, John Rossignol, Donald McCann, Jane Marshall and Betty Sarmast.

Director Dwells On Drinking Data; Says Survey Sees Sipping Students

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 4 — A group of Yale's physical and social scientists, working in a reconverted mansion at the edge of the University's campus is making a pioneer study of alcoholism in the United States.

This research program is headed by Seldon D. Bacon, director of Yale's Center of Alcohol Studies. Its findings so far have challenged many of the pet theories about alcoholism and have thrown new light on American drinking habits.

The first of a series of reports from the Alcohol Center is the widely discussed "Drinking In College," published today by the Yale University Press. This report based on a study of 16,000 men and women students in 27 colleges and universities throughout the United States, is the first study ever made of the drinking habits of college students.

Among the conclusions reached in the book is the fact that the drinking patterns of most students are formed before they enter college.

"We're hoping to learn the basic facts about the ordinary drinker, and for the purpose of this project, we're not interested in the extremes," said Mr. Bacon. "We want to learn the effects on the body and emotions of a small amount of alcohol, in the hope that this knowledge will help us discover why people drink."

Yale's Center of Alcohol Studies is located in an old New Haven mansion on Hillhouse Ave. The building has been reconverted and now has several laboratories and offices for the Yale staff.

Yale's Center of Alcohol Studies started out in the 1920s as a laboratory of applied physiology. Initially, its only interest in alcohol was as a chemical factor in physiology, but as information of these early studies gained currency, the laboratory began to receive a steadily-mounted flood of questions related to the subject of alcoholism from teachers, ministers, doctors, policemen and social workers.

By 1937, it was decided to expand the entire field of investigations. A sociologist, an economist, a jurist, a statistician, a biologist, and a doctor were added to the staff. The number of different fields represented reflects the wide impact of alcoholism in the community.

"Drinking In College" based on a six-year study, is the first major report of the Alcohol Center. Apart from what the book tells about college drinking in America, the study is important because it establishes the foundation for a long-range study of a whole group of people containing a small proportion certain to become alcoholics.

"We at the Alcohol Center have long felt a need to study such a group," said Mr. Bacon. "We decided on college students because they're relatively less inhibited about answering questionnaires than adults, and also because they were available in groups on the campus."

"Also," he said, "we knew college students were old enough so we were sure a large number would have started drinking but not so long that they would have forgotten when and under what circumstances."

"Until recently," Mr. Bacon explained, "all data on drinking habits were concerned with abnormal drinking and its relationship to divorce, crime and the like. We felt it essential to gain a picture of the normal drinking customs of the American people."

"We studied the drinking habits of ethnic groups. But we also wanted to study a particular age group which we'd be able to follow for the next 25 or 30 years. As a result, we'll be able to trace the influences of marriage, of change in economic status, of having children, and of changing attitudes on the drinking habits of these college students."

Mr. Bacon said that it will be possible to conduct follow-up studies of students interviewed in this college-age group because 77 per cent of them voluntarily gave their names for future references.

Colleges in all parts of the country including state-supported and privately-endowed schools, are represented in the survey.

Student Directory Soon; Correct Mistakes Now!

Complete name and address lists for the Student Directory are now posted for correction. The Day Division list may be found at Alumni Hall and the listing for the Evening Division is posted at Fones Hall.

Students will have until Wednesday, Oct. 14 to make the necessary corrections and are asked to neatly pencil in the correction in the margin next to the name.

Annual Secretarial Tests To Be Held Oct. 16 - 17

The third annual Certified Professional Secretary examination will be held Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17, at the Weylister Secretarial School of the University of Bridgeport, and simultaneously in 33 other colleges and universities throughout the United States. This will be the first time the exams will be given at the Seaside Park school.

Sponsored by the non-profit National Secretaries Association, this 12 hour certifying examination extends over two days and covers skills, techniques and basic knowledge of six phases of secretarialship, including personal adjustment and human relations, business law, economics and business administration, secretarial accounting, stenography and general secretarial and office procedures. Those who pass all parts of the test will receive CPS certificates.

UB OFFERS TV COURSES

ally, our university is not the first to delve into this new medium of education, but it is the first, to our knowledge, to operate on a full class period basis.

These applicants will receive a certificate when they have completed a course. Both subjects are part of the requirements for a Bachelor's Degree, and the same credits will be offered to the television audience as to the regular students.

Campus students already enrolled in these classes will not be allowed to transfer to the TV courses, unless given special permission. A student who's academic load is under eighteen credits may enroll.

Applications and inquiries have been coming into the Television Extension Center of the University from all parts of New England and New York, indicating the probable success of such an undertaking.

Professor Jacobson Lectures in India, Talks on Industrial Journalism Plan

by Ken Hawman

Professor Howard Boone Jacobson, Chairman of UB's Journalism Department, has accepted an invitation to lecture at universities in India. He will leave the campus in the latter part of November for a three month good-will assignment to introduce and explain UB's industrial journalism program.

COLLEGIATE PAPERS

dailies are allowed to carry cigarette advertising. Said one editor: "How do you think we make 'all out money'?"

More than half the college dailies fail to show any profit at the end of the year. Most papers, especially those at state universities, have to depend heavily on compulsory student fees to break even.

Operating budgets for dailies vary from $15,000 to $100,000 with the average budget around $47,000 a year.

The daily paper pays its editor a yearly salary ranging from $60 to $960.

The editor of the typical college daily receives a little over $500 a year for his services. His business manager gets $425, his managing editor $400.

Two dailies said they paid no salaries, while five others split the cash only when the paper makes a profit.

Editors of dailies are pretty well satisfied with their boards of publications and feel that their newspapers are almost entirely free from any form of censorship or control.

Ninety-five percent of the editors said their papers were perfectly free to publish anything they wanted. Several pointed out they were expected to stay within the limits "of common sense and decency."

His scholastic itinerary will take him to the Universities of Patna, Jaipur, and Benars, as well as schools located in New Delhi and Tagore.

As a personal project, Mr. Jacobson plans to take notes on the English language newspapers in circulation in that young country.

The Dean of the School of Economics of the University of Patna extended the invitation on behalf of a group of Indian educators, who plan to add the industrial journalism curricula to keep pace with India's booming industrial expansion.

Since the newspaper is an integral part of a company's industrial and public relations program, there will soon be a rising demand for skilled industrial editors in India.

The ultimate goal of UB's industrial journalism course is to provide industry with capable industrial editors who are ready to organize, direct, and operate the company newspaper.

Mr. Jacobson summed up the main objective of the program when he said, "it takes a well-trained industrial editor to mold raw stories from the plant reporter into an attractive, readable publication at a minimum production cost."

Mr. Jacobson came to UB in October, 1948, shortly after graduating from the University of Missouri's School of Journalism. A native of Bridgeport, he is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Louis S. Jacobson of 1224 Capitol Ave., Bridgeport.

Upon graduating from Bassick High School in 1943, he matriculated to the University of New Mexico, where he studied one year. At New Mexico, he edited sports for the school newspaper and yearbook.

While attending the University of Missouri, Mr. Jacobson worked on the school newspaper and also produced a children's radio show. He was chairman of the policy board of the Pan-Hellenic Council, a member of Sigma Alpha Mu, Alpha Delta Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi.

From there they will proceed to Westport Hall, home of the Reading Laboratory. Latest equipment of all types used in the laboratory will be displayed.

The Technology-Engineering Building will be the next point of visitation. Here may be found chemistry and physics laboratories, engineering labs and drafting rooms, all open to the public.

The tour will end at Alumni Hall, newest addition to the University. The guests will view the cafeteria, alumni office, student lounge and recreation center, and many of the student offices, including the offices of the SCRIBE and Wistaria.

President Halsey, in announcing the plan, said that he hoped the students and faculty would welcome this chance to "show off our school." Each person may help out by being courteous to the visitors and answering any questions that our guests may have.

No estimate of the number of visitors is available, since this is the first time a project of this sort is being undertaken by the University. However, it is hoped that a large group will be on hand to enjoy the well-planned program and get a better understanding of how a university really operates.

Professor Hans Apel Eco. Dep't. Head; Talks On Academic Freedom

Professor Hans Apel, Chairman of the Economics Department, will address a student convocation on Tuesday, October 20 at 10:00 A. M. in the Carlson Lecture Hall. His topic will be "The Stake of Students in Academic Freedom."

Professor Apel has been chairman of the department since joining the faculty in 1950 and had many years of both teaching and business experience both in the United States and his native country, Germany. He is well qualified to speak on his chosen subject for convocation.

In view of the present widely debated incidents such as the so-called "book-burning" and non-communist oaths required by many universities in recent months, Professor Apel's lecture should prove both interesting and informative.

Students are reminded to check the SCRIBE bulletins weekly for coming convocations and upper-classmen are required to check with records office to insure that the necessary convocation requirements have been met.

Several interesting convocations have been scheduled for the coming year with both faculty experts and invited guests of prominence participating.

This Saturday, October 10, 1953, is a date that will go down in UB history. For Saturday marks the beginning of the University of Bridgeport's new athletic program.

For years now UB students have been clamoring for new sports; well, now they have them.

Soccer, which opens Saturday, has been absent for two years; but Coach John McKeon has some pretty good material and should do well.

Fencing, a brand new sport on the Seaside campus, is rounding into shape under the guidance of Professor William T. DeSiero. Athletic Director, Herbert Glines, has sent out a call for swimmers and is arranging a schedule.

Tennis and baseball will be added in the spring. It will be good to see these old stalwarts return. Baseball, although, never previously successful at Bridgeport, is still the most popular sport of many people on this campus.

Tennis, on the other hand, has been by far the most consistent winner on the Purple and White scene. In three years of varsity competition the racquetteers compiled a 15 win and 2 loss record.

When the soccer team opens its season against Albany State Teachers Saturday, many of the Knights will be renewing old friendships. Five of the Albany kickers are transfer students from Champlain, as are almost half of the UBooters.

Speaking of soccer, Gordie Cochran, crack left-inside, has never played on a losing team. Although Champlain had a 5-1 record in 1952, Gordie was not in uniform the day they lost.

Coach "Kay"

Walt Kondratovich finally has a football team that he can call a football team. Although undermanned at the ends he can still put a strong squad of eleven men on the field and have an ample bench with which to substitute.

"Kay" started the season with five top notch wingmen, but George Dixon dropped out of school and Ray Glatowski and Bob Mendes injured their knees and thus far have been unable to play. That leaves the mentor with Joe Cirone, Dick Cipriani and Clyde Haggarty.

"Cip" has sustained two major injuries in the first two games, but has continued to play despite this. Cirone, in the first two games, played 116 minutes out of a possible 120, and has up to now been the number one pass receiver on the squad.

The rest of the squad led by Hal Trischman, Charlie Petrino, Iggy Salone, Tony DiMatteo, the "DeDom" twins, Dave Deep and co-captain John Anderson have been the major factor in the Knights defense.

For the first time in many-a-moon "Kay" can boast of two quarterbacks, either of whom can pass, run, fake or hand-off as well as the other in Dick Glinesello and Don Ardito.

The halfback situation is well under control as Bobby Perez and Roland Emory are ably backed up by Don Margiano and John Esposito.

Co-captains Ralph Consiglio and Walt Johnson have given "Kay" an extra boost with their fine play at fullback.

On paper it looks like the finest squad ever assembled by the Purple and White. Only fate can tell the rest.

Knights to Face Adelphi At Candlelite Saturday; Footballers Seek 2nd Win

Adelphi College of Garden City, L. I. invades Candlelite Stadium Saturday as the Purple Knights try to even their season's record. The Knights defeated Upsala College in their opener but have dropped their last two games to Brandeis and Hofstra.

Kickers Open Sked Saturday; Play Albany State Teachers

Bob Stevenson and Mike Belmont have been elected co-captains for the 1953 soccer season, according to an announcement made by Coach John McKeon.

Co-Captains John Anderson and Ralph Consiglio seen in an "off-the-field" capacity. The lovely armful is Myrna Hanson, "Miss United States."

Both men came to UB from Arnold and are physical education majors. Stevenson is the regular left half, while Belmont is the center forward. They will lead the UBooters against Albany State Teachers College, Saturday in the opening game of the season.

McKeon has also announced that there are two positions still open, but the rest of the lineup is set.

Stevenson and Belmont, as well as the rest of the squad have been in training for the past two weeks and have rounded into top notch condition.

Fordham University has been added to the Knights' slate to fill out a seven game schedule.

The schedule: Oct. 10, Albany State Teachers, away; Oct. 17, Fort Schuyler, away; Oct. 31, Seton Hall, away; Nov. 7, LIU, away; Nov. 11, Panzer, home; Nov. 14, Seton Hall, home; Nov. 17, Fordham.

Glines Calls Swimmers Practice To Begin Soon

The Athletic Policy Committee of the University has allowed Mr. Glines to draw up a schedule for a swimming team. Four meets have been planned and four or five more are being considered. Mr. Glines has some good men, but there are still some positions open. Those interested should contact Mr. Glines.

Coach Walter "Kay" Kondratovich has had his charges scrimmaging every day this week in an all out effort to reverse last year's 13-0 defeat at the hands of the Long Island team. The over all record against Adelphi is 1-3-0, in a series dating back to 1943.

Anderson and Margiano Weakened by Injuries

UB will not be at full strength for Saturday's encounter as Co-Captain John Anderson has a severely injured left knee and Don Margiano has a badly bruised cheek. Both men will probably be forced to sit out the game. Ray Glatowski, last year's standout end will return to action for the first time this year against the Adelphians. Glatowski was in shape to play last week but Kondratovich decided to give him another week's rest.

Adelphi will be opening their season Saturday and according to advance notices, the switch from two platoons has not hurt them in the least although they lost 12 of last year's lettermen. Last year the Garden City crew posted a 4-3 record.

A large turnout is expected and will be treated to a fine half time performance by the University's marching band.

Foilers Face Yale As UB Meets Eli For The 1st Time

Thirty hopeful fencers reported to the first meeting of the Fencing Team last Thursday night at Alumni Hall and Professor William T. DeSiero, who will be the organizational head of the team, has announced that practice will begin soon.

At Thursday's meeting the rules and regulations of the sport were discussed. Professor DeSiero explained that although the squad has no place to practice as of now, he will continue to push his plans ahead.

In a release from the Athletic Department it was learned that UB will meet Yale University for the first time on a varsity level when the fencing squad travels to Yale on January 9.

Professor DeSiero has also made it known that the University is attempting to engage Masters in Fencing from the Bridgeport YMCA. No schedule has been released as yet, but there is a possibility of quite a large and impressive schedule.

The squad will work with only foil for the present, but may move on to saber dueling later on in the season.

Knights Beaten By Brandeis; Anderson and Margiano Hurt

Tom Egan and Bob McKenna. That was the story as Brandeis University defeated the University of Bridgeport 25-0, last Saturday at Waltham, Mass. This loss marked the second UB defeat in three games.

Brandeis clinched the game on their second play from scrimmage as Egan flipped to McKenna for a 56 yard touchdown play. Minutes later the score was 13-0 as the same combination clicked again for 30 yards and another score. The Judges added single touchdowns in the second and third quarters for the victory.

McKenna, in catching four touchdown passes set an all time Brandeis mark for one game with 24 points.

UB had only one scoring threat, that late in the final period, and the closest the Knights came to scoring was when Don Ardito intercepted a Brandeis aerial and almost broke away on his own 40, but was caught on a shoestring tackle. Co-Captain John Anderson severely injured his knee and missed the entire second half. Don Margiano, UB halfback was also injured and may miss Saturday's game with Adelphi.

ALONG PARK PLACE

by Andy Demotzes

For the past few days, many of the new students on this campus have been asking me questions about the social life here at UB and about fraternity dances in particular. I feel it is my duty to explain just what goes on around here on week-ends.

The best way (if there is a best way to do anything) to explain the situation is to take a typical UB couple and follow them as they go to a fraternity dance (but don't follow them too closely).

We shall follow this couple from the time our Hero asks for his date to the end of the evening. Of course the reader must realize that many of the gruesome details must be left out. (Just use your imagination).

The scene opens in the Snack Bar about 3:00 Thursday afternoon before the big dance the next night. Our Hero is lounging around in his best college dress: Dirty white bucks, sun tans, a cashmere sweater and a fraternity pin. (On the sweater of course).

In walks UB Co-Ed after a tough struggle with the front door. A gleam comes to our Hero's eye as he spots the heroine in her form-fitting dungarees and her loose-fitting sweatshirt.

"Hey, doll" our Hero calls.

"What do you want, dear" our UB Co-Ed answers.

"How would you like to go to the — dance tomorrow night?"

The blanks are there because I can't mention fraternities. To Some, This Seems, This Shows The Saddest Type Sencorship The School Tries So hard to enforce.

"Why sure, I'd love to," purrs the pretty miss as she flattens our Hero with a seductive glance from her enormous brown eyes.

"Swell, I'll pick you up at nine at the dorm. Bye, doll."

"Bye, dear."

And so the fatal date is made. The stage is set. UB Co-Ed is happy because she has been waiting for our Hero to pay more than casual attention to her.

Our Hero is happy because he has heard many stories about UB Co-Ed, and he has visions of a great evening.

About 7:30 Friday evening, UB Co-Ed begins to get dressed. After a quick shower and a dash to the phone to talk to Hero number 2, who is just a day too late, the young miss returns to her room to work on her face. (What a job).

When the face is satisfactory, the search for clothes is on. Various and sundry types of underclothes are borrowed from room mates until at last UB Co-Ed is ready for a dress. She grabs her strapless evening gown and finds it is still wrinkled from the last time.

What to do?? Quick. Run upstairs and get that gownless evening strap from the girl on the third floor. Thank heavens it fits. Oh, it's nine already. Cigarettes, bag, lipstick, mirror, comb, powder, etc. fly together, and she plops on the bed to wait for her Hero.

Meanwhile, back on the ranch, our Hero has jumped into his flannel suit, and is speeding on his way to the dorm, because he overslept, and it is nine already.

Our Hero arrives at the dorm

as UB Co-Ed is beginning to worry.

"Hey, Co-Ed," he yells up the stairs, "I'm here."

"Sit down for a minute, I'm almost ready, dear."

Fifteen minutes and two cigarettes later, UB Co-Ed comes giddling down the stairs in her best imitation of a sexy walk. Out to the car they go, and proceed to the dance.

As the couple walk into the dance, our Hero sees a friend and leaves his date to stand in the lobby as he makes man-talk with the boys. When he is ready, he returns, and finds his brothers to sit with.

No sooner have all the introductions been made when all the girls decide it is time for a trip. Everyone stands up (all the girls mean) and makes for the Powder Room. High class dance, no doubt).

Soon the troops are back from "No Man's Land," and the dancing begins in earnest. After half the first dance, our Hero tires, and wants to sit and chat.

So they chat. And they dance. And they sing that song, "This is table 68" and other interesting compositions. Friends are visited and talked to, the actions of everyone else are discussed and many more trips are made to "The Point of No Return" by both sexes.

Soon all the dead soldiers are buried, all the songs are sung, all the visiting has been done, the stockings have run, and the band is done gone home.

Our couple make a quick dash to the car so they will be able to get back to school a few minutes before 1:30. Why they always want to get back before 1:30 is beyond me, but I guess they have their own reasons.

Exactly at 1:30, our Hero walks UB Co-Ed to the front door of the dorm and leans against the building to say goodnight once again.

"Did you like the dance, doll" are the first words out of his mouth.

"Ya, I guess it was alright. How about you?"

"Ya, it was alright, but wait till you see ours. It'll be twice as good."

"Well, I think I'd better go in," says UB Co-Ed, "It's two minutes after 1:30 now, and I don't want to get in any trouble."

"OK, doll, I'll see you Monday. Night, now."

"Good night, dear."

A: Fine. The three-horned Mercurian gut-borer will hunt you gladly.

Q: Will I have any trouble with Travelers Cheques on the Moon?

A: No, not unless you try to cash them.

Q: I am leaving Thursday for my first trip through space. What would you suggest?

A: Don't let the stars get in your eyes.

Q: My buddy and I are planning a camping trip on Neptune. Could we take our canoe?

A: Yes, you could take your canoe. Why?

Q: Our camera club is going to Jupiter to take pictures. What shutter speed should I use? What type camera should I take?

A: On Jupiter you won't need a camera. Just swallow a roll of 35 mm. film and wink your eye.

Q: I am writing from a Space Platform-In-The-Sky, and the other day while watching Earth through my telescope, I noticed what appeared to be a series of big explosions on that mysterious planet? What's going on down there anyway?

A: Nothing. Mind your own business.
